

Ebulletin 5th January 2009

Title: Last chance to have your say on supporting volunteering

Dear members,

My apologies for sending another e-bulletin to you in quick succession or if you have already seen this, but this has a very tight timeframe now and you may wish to take part. Many thanks –
Janet

Subject: Last chance to have your say on supporting volunteering

Do you work with volunteer organisations?

Or do you work with volunteers?

Or are you a volunteer?

The Red Foundation is carrying out a ground-breaking survey on volunteering from the three perspectives of infrastructure organisations, volunteer managers and volunteers themselves.

Your last opportunity to contribute is Thursday 8th January. If you have already completed the survey, many thanks! Your contribution is much appreciated.

This survey is part of the Modernising Volunteering National Support Service which will establish good practice and inform the resources available to infrastructure organisations. Your answers will have a genuine impact on work in the future. If you want change - tell us! If you want things to stay the way they are - tell us!

The survey is anonymous and only takes a few minutes to fill in. For the survey, please click www.modernisingvolunteering.org or visit our website - www.redfoundation.org

Happy New Year! and thank you!
